*Putting science-based information in your hands,
and better decisions within your reach.*

FORREX invites ABCFP members to subscribe to the BC Journal of Ecosystems and Management (JEM)

JEM is a peer-reviewed journal designed to support and improve the sustainable management of British Columbia's ecosystems. JEM extends scientific results, successful management applications, socio-economic analyses, scholarly opinions, and operational and indigenous knowledge.

Your JEM subscription includes a print copy of JEM as well as email notifications and access to the Open Journal System, an online community for JEM readers, writers, and editors (please include your email address in form below).

As a bonus you, you will receive LINK News articles, which are now conveniently included in each issue of JEM.

Demonstrate your commitment to life-long learning and professional competency...And save $10 off the regular subscription rate for JEM!
