

References for “Berries, Mushrooms and Fiddleheads: Are They in Your Forest Management Plan?”

By Wendy Cocksedge, MSc

Published in BC Forest Professional, March/April 2009

References

CNTR 2006. Critical Information for Policy Development and Management of Non-Timber Forest Products in British Columbia: Baseline Studies on Economic Value and Compatible Management. Forest Science Program Y061065.

deGeus, N. 1995. Botanical forest products in British Columbia: an overview. B.C. Min. For., Integrated Resources Branch, Victoria, B.C.

DeLong, Craig. Proposed. Determining habitat and climate requirements for optimum berry production for Vaccinium spp. FIA-FSP Proposal Y101002.

Keefer, Michael. 2008. Study looks at huckleberry productivity. LINK Fall 2008. Vol 10 Issue 3. FORREX.

J.P. Kimmins, J.P., C. Welham, F. Cao, P. Wangpakapattanawong, and L. Christanty. 2008. The Role of Ecosystem-level Models in the Design of Agroforestry Systems for Future Environmental Conditions and Social Needs. In: S. Jose and A.M. Gordon (eds.), Toward Agroforestry Design: An Ecological Approach. 231. Springer.

Tedder, S. 2008. Tenure and the Management of Non-Timber Forest Products in British Columbia. Sustainable Forest Management Network, Edmonton, Alberta